BRYAN AND KERN HEAD THE DEMOCRATIC TICKE

DENVER, July 10 .- 2 A. M. A few minutes before midnight, according to the clock, whose hands had been turned back, the Democratic National Convention, amidst a scene of unparallelled authorizans, nominated William Jennings Bryan, of Nebraska, as the condidate to contest with William H. Taft for the presidency of the United States. The nomination occurred on the first ballet after a some unprecedented for its wonderful enthusiasm emacted in any presidential convention since the Civil War. For one hour and twenty minutes delegates and speciators cheered Bryan when his name was mentioned at the close of the unminating speech of Ignatius J. Duna, of Judge Gree, of Delawars, and Governor John A. Johnson, of Minneson ta, were also placed in nomination, but the mention of their names orgated

The platform contains a strong subdepunction plank, demands the election of United States Senators by direct vote, calls for an eight hour day, commends the government guarantee of bank deposits, demands the admission of Armona and New Mexico as separate states and at the earliest possible. moment, . Its for an early revision of the tariff, and contains various other referre which have been presched by Bryan in the past fifteen years.

The platform also condemns Boosevelt for using the power of his emen to force the nomination of his sen choice for his successor,

Early this morning the most telled of candidate for the vice presidency is Orey, if he will accept.
